

"I slashed web development
by 3 times."

Krzysztof Pietraszek
Frontend Developer at Netguru

N

What's the story?

The Cardano Foundation, focused on blockchain on-chain activities, approached us for web development.

N

They agreed to test Locofy, an innovative design-to-code tool, with the goal of speeding up development.

N

Using it on one of their pages, enabled me to cut the development time by three.

N

Difficult?

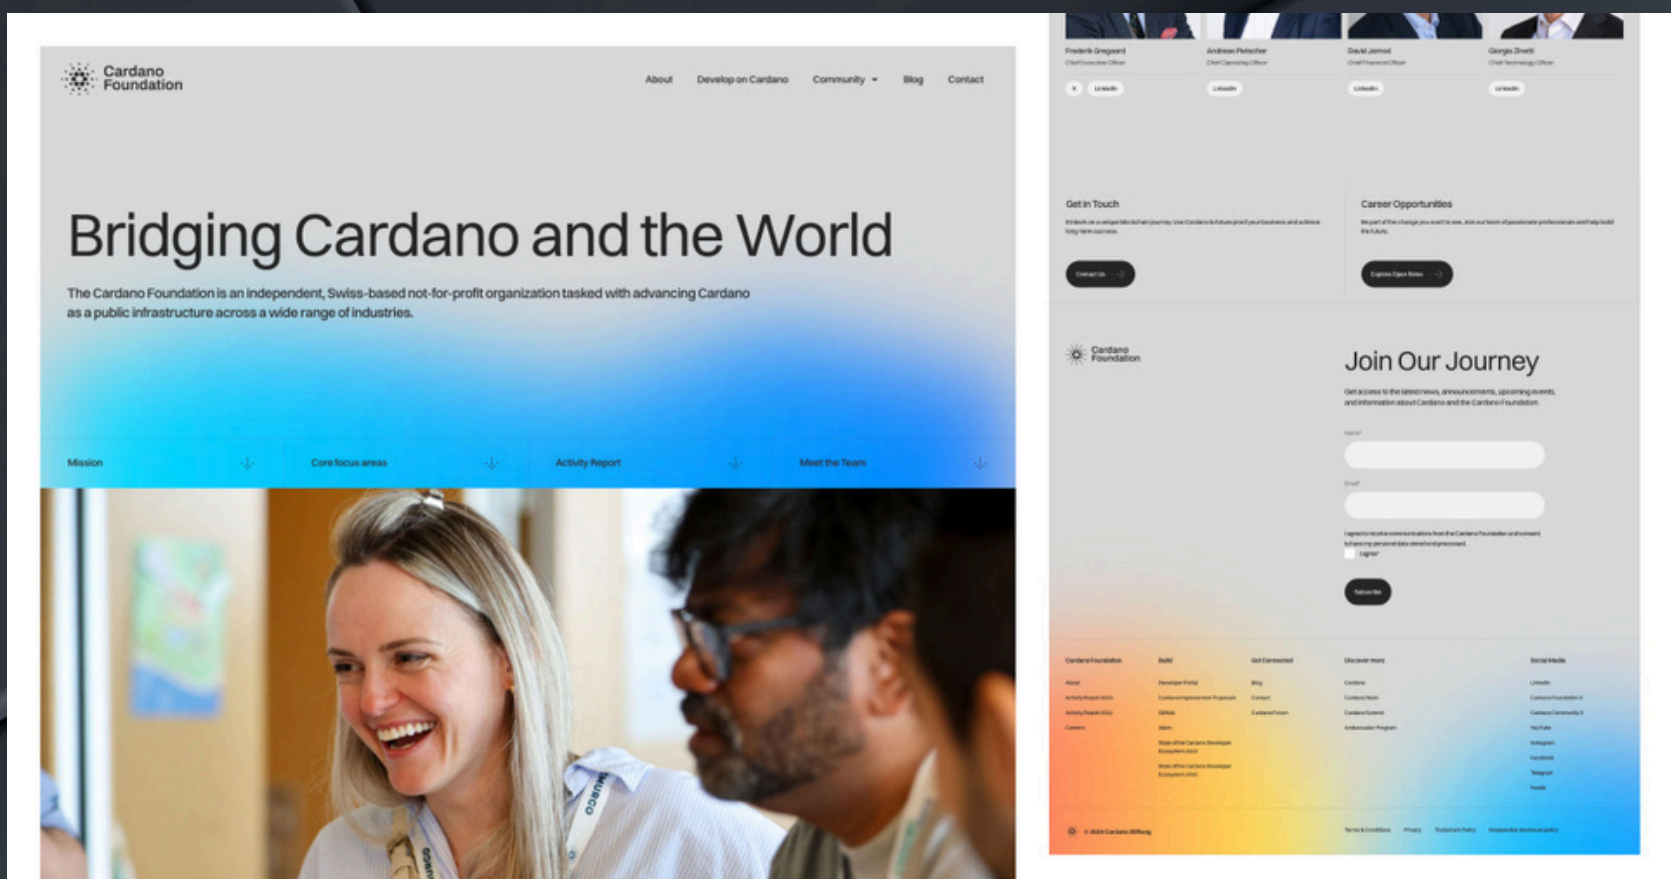

Not at all.

I mastered Locofy in just one day.

How was it applied?

I completed a static version of the page on the second day.

N

Was there any manual work?

Yes, I spent the next two days on delivering a functional version: integrating logic, mobile functionality, and CMS data connections.

N

Lessons I learnt?

Locofy can't implement logic functions or integrate a database for dynamic content.

N

What were the gains?

Locofy boosted and simplified
the whole web development
workflow.

Own the change
with Netguru